Our school . . . the doors through which we passed
. . . the corridors . . . the minutes of friendly chats before class . . . the classrooms . . . lunch at noon
. . . youth coming and going. Here we have grown
. . . like big oaks from acorns. Into our lives is interwoven a part of every one we have met. We cannot but reflect that our school has inspired many who have attended here . . . and stands solidly as these seniors quickly pass.

Foreword

We present our 1953 Nugget with the sincere wish that it will bring you enjoyment—both now, and in the years to come when your high school days will be just a memory. May it often recall to you some of the joys and fun that you had here—and may these priceless treasures of warm experiences ever guide you as you journey along while life stretches before you.

Dedication

To our football and basketball champions of 1953 we dedicate this Nugget. We can well be proud of these young men who have devoted so much time to bring fame and honor to our school. May we learn from their example the intrinsic value of teamwork and take this lesson with us as we leave our great McKinley High School.

Principal's Message

Dear Friends of the Classes of January and June, 1953:

We appreciate the opportunities which we have had as a faculty to be of service to you during the past four years. We trust that we have helped you in many ways—in acquiring desirable information, developing useful skills, forming wholesome attitudes, building good habits.

But above all we trust that we have helped you develop a set of values that are not altogether materialistic. Unless you believe that sharing is the keynote of happiness, that duties and responsibilities must be met, that honesty with ourselves and others is absolutely essential, that faith in man and God is the only sure foundation for a good life, we have fallen far short of our duty to you, and may God have mercy on you and us.

You have our heartiest good wishes for your continued growth.

Most sincerely yours,

N. B. DEE, Principal.

"The direction in which education starts a man will determine his future life," said Plato.

That is why we seniors are especially anxious to acknowledge here our gratefulness to the staff of McKinley High School for their helpfulness in guiding us through four important years of our youth.

Seniors

It is difficult to find words to show my appreciation for what McKinley has done for me not only in my last term as president of the senior class of June 1953, but also during my four years as a student.

I know that our class will never be forgotten for all the contributions its members have made in sports, academic achievement, the arts, inter-school activities, and general school spirit. When we leave these memorable halls and go out to the different crossroads of life, we shall always remember the hours that we have spent here. Who could forget the good times in the corridors, the lunchroom, and the narrow stairways? Or the institution where we spent four of the best years of our life?

Let me speak for the rest of the senior class to thank Mr. Dee, Mr. Weld, Miss Connor, our sponsor, Mrs. Clarkson, and the faculty for what they did in helping to better mold our lives. At one time or another they have helped us when we needed help the most.

In graduating, may each one of us always remember that we couldn't have spent four better years than those at McKinley.

—Joe Stone.

Activities

Loyalty to any school can be shown in this way—participation by the students in school activities. "Out-of-class" activities can determine the love of the pupils for their school. The leaders as well as the followers in life are often discovered in a simple thing such as a school club or organization.

The best times a student will ever have and the most helpful education in life will be learned in these organizations. Here is one place where the character of a student is built. For it is in these groups that a student's real personality is revealed. To work together and cooperate with people is one of the best lessons learned, and if it is learned well it will make a firm foundation and success in business.

As we look back in later years, the fondest memories of our school days will be those which linger on from extra-curricular activities. The good times spent there will remain long after the English and history lessons conned in class. The words of our school song remind us that LOYALTY is a part of McKinley:

"As we journey down life's path our hearts will ever turn to you."

Activities have always been and will always be an important part of McKinley, because it is in them that pupils often obtain lasting interests both in vocations and avocations.

The Coronation of McKinley Queen

SHERRY BUSH

Each year at McKinley we hold the Coronation of our Queen. It means to us what Mardi Gras means to New Orleans—what the Royal Coronation means to the British. Into our everyday school chores it brings some pomp and glory, a little mystery, and a lot of excitement.

Every McKinley girl dreams of being queen and each year the Goldbug carries on our fine tradition of making one of these girls' dreams come true.

At that eventful time one night last November, the lights were lowered, the room was filled with suspense as the most beautiful coronation ever witnessed at McKinley began. When the girls came down the aisle on to the stage and took their places, we were reminded of a beautiful rainbow the way the girls were arranged with their lovely dresses blending perfectly. As the moment for the little girl to bow to the new queen approached the suspense mounted. Then, just as our new queen

Sherry Bush was crowned Queen of Love and Beauty, a burst of wild applause rose from the audience. To the strains of the Recessional the queen and her lovely maidens departed from the auditorium to attend the ball.

Thus another coronation was added to the history of McKinley.

The Goldbug is one of the outstanding features of our school. We are very proud of this paper, because it is one of the finest in the city. The material used in the make-up is written by the Goldbug class. The news comes straight from the student body by way of the suggestion box or otherwise. Miss Waddock is our new sponsor for 1953.

Since the Goldbug is possible only by your support, we solicit the co-operation of every pupil.

The Radio Production Group

Sponsor, Miss Wall

The purpose of the Radio Production Class is to give pupils in high school experience in writing and producing plays that may be given over the radio. The students gain great benefit in announcing, interviewing, public speaking, as well as directing.

Audio-visual service was founded in an endeavor to enrich classroom experience. In 1904 plans of our first audio-visual school service took form in a small institution housed in one room and a school corridor that began by loaning collections from the St. Louis World's Fair. Silent motion picture films became part of the school-loan service in 1917, sound films in 1938. Classroom radio became an integral part of teaching with the establishment in 1950 of KSLH, the public school FM station.

Our Radio Production Class records many of these programs which in turn are used in other classes from our recorder.

The Speakers Forum

Sponsor, Mrs. Clarkson

The history of free speech is the history of man's right to say what he believes. The right of the individual to express his thoughts openly has been the foundation of democracy. When one man rules a nation the voice of the people cannot be expressed.

Our Speakers Forum offers a real opportunity for pupils to learn to express themselves before an audience. This year the members took a keen interest in the question "Should Eighteen-Year-Olds Be Allowed to Vote?" when the Town Meeting participated in the American Legion Oratorical Contest. The Voice of Democracy Contests were also sponsored by our Speakers Forum. A semi-annual visit to Washington University Law School, where a mock-trial takes place, further stimulates interest in this club.

Distributive Education Club

Sponsor, Mr. Layne

Distributive Education serves occupations in which thirty per cent of the population is employed. Recognized as the third largest field of endeavor in the United States, retailing and merchandising offers the high school graduate an opportunity to attain the proper social and financial balance necessary to success. Students enrolled in Distributive Education are able to receive business training preparatory to store operation or management, gain selling techniques, and obtain merchandise information.

Students may enter the DE program in the 7th term and continue through the 8th term, earning a total of four credits. Each semester one credit may be earned for class work and one credit for successful part-time experience. Problems in retail merchandising are presented during the class period, and in the afternoon and evening each student has a chance to secure practical experience in a retail or wholesale organization where he works a minimum of 15 hours per week. For this work he receives the same wages as other new employees in comparable jobs. Mr. Layne works with the merchants in setting up a training schedule for each student in an effort to individualize instruction so that the knowledge learned in school is directly related to the part-time job.

Retailing offers high school graduates many opportunities for developing and using their talents. Wherever these talents may lie—in the selling of goods, services, and ideas; in the selecting and purchasing of merchandise; in the training and supervising of retail employees; in the dramatizing of merchandise through words, pictures, or displays; in the recording and interpreting of statistics; or in some other skilled activity—retailing provides unlimited possibilities for interesting and profitable careers.

"There are three estates in parliament, but yonder sits the fourth estate more important than them all."—Burke.

The above quotation which you have so often seen in our Goldbug was attributed to Burke by Thomas Carlyle in his book, "Heroes and Hero-Worship." The Fourth Estate referred to the press that sat in the Reporters' Gallery during parliament. I am sure that you will agree that the newspaper plays a very important part in any nation.

WITHOUT A SONG

"Without a song the day would never end;
Without a song the road would never bend;
When things go wrong a man ain't got a friend—
Without a song.

That field of corn would never see a plow;
That field of corn would be deserted now,
A darky's born, but he's no good no-how,
Without a song.

I got my trouble and woe,
But sure as I know the Jordan will roll,
I'll get along as long as a song is strong in my soul.

I'll never know what makes the rain to fall;
I'll never know what makes the grass so tall;
I only know there ain't no love at all—

The Girls' Athletic Association is the girls' largest activity for wholesome after-school recreation through a varied program of organized sports. Intramural tournaments in volleyball, basketball, and softball are held each year and the keen interest in these activities, as well as the resulting good sportsmanship, from these events and social contacts, offer proof enough of the worth of this organization. At graduation awards are given to those earning the highest points. Anyone wishing to earn an award should join as soon as she enters high school.

In the above photograph you can see the letters "P E P" stamped right on the front seats, and they spell out a good definition of our Pep Squad. This club is composed of McKinley girls who are especially interested in promoting school spirit and good sportsmanship. They attend all the interscholastic games, sell tickets for these activities, and support all McKinley doings in general.

Besides this, the girls of the Squad enjoy good fellowship at their meetings. Some life-long friendships have been made in this manner. They work joyously together in preparing a party for our Championship Teams. Every now and then they engage in friendly rivalry seeing how many Goldbug buttons they can sell.

Come up to 314 at any meeting—general or special—and you will see fifty or more girls living up to the meaning of those letters P-E-P.

Sports

Sports—what does it mean? A group of boys playing together as a team, sportsmanship, school spirit, the will to win, a lot of hustle, confidence,—in fact, everything leads up to the word sports.

In our student body and faculty you will find school spirit. For if there was no school spirit, we surely wouldn't have had the football team, basketball team, and baseball team that we had in the past year.

A group of boys playing together as a team—what does it mean? In athletics there is no athlete who is the whole team. If that line man misses throwing that block, then the backfield man would be tackled; but with a perfect block he runs over the goal line for the touchdown. There is no one individual who is the team, but everybody working together makes the team.

The athletic program here at McKinley teaches the boys how to co-operate with one another in a sportsmanship manner. The sportsmanship which the boys receive from playing athletics here at McKinley will help to make them better men in this business world of ours.

In our McKinley boys we will always find that will to win and that hustle that lasts until the whistle is blown. In no player will you find a lack of confidence to win.

To close I shall use a statement which is in Mr. Blanke's gym office—"It's not the size of the dog in the fight that counts, but the size of the fight in the dog."

—Harold Alcorn.

B Football Team

Coach, Mr. Shewman

The most popular page in autumn sports is football. No game demands more teamwork, strength, courage, and alertness, or provides a more thrilling spectacle. It is played by teams representing cities, playgrounds, and industrial organizations. It is the chief sport in most high schools and colleges. But its many players are but a handful in comparison with its spectators.

The boys playing on the B-Team will eventually go to make up our Varsity Team. Considering the good showing that they did this year, we certainly should have one of the best football teams next year.

 Be it said in letters both bold and bright,
 "Here is the team that saved the day
 By carrying our banner clear through the fray!"

It might be! It could be! It is!!! Our McKinley baseball team is scoring high again in the field of sports. This time, baseball.

Baseball for many years has been the national game of the United States. It requires great skill and good sportsmanship. Baseball is one of the best liked sports in our schools and the only sport in high school that you can watch free of charge.

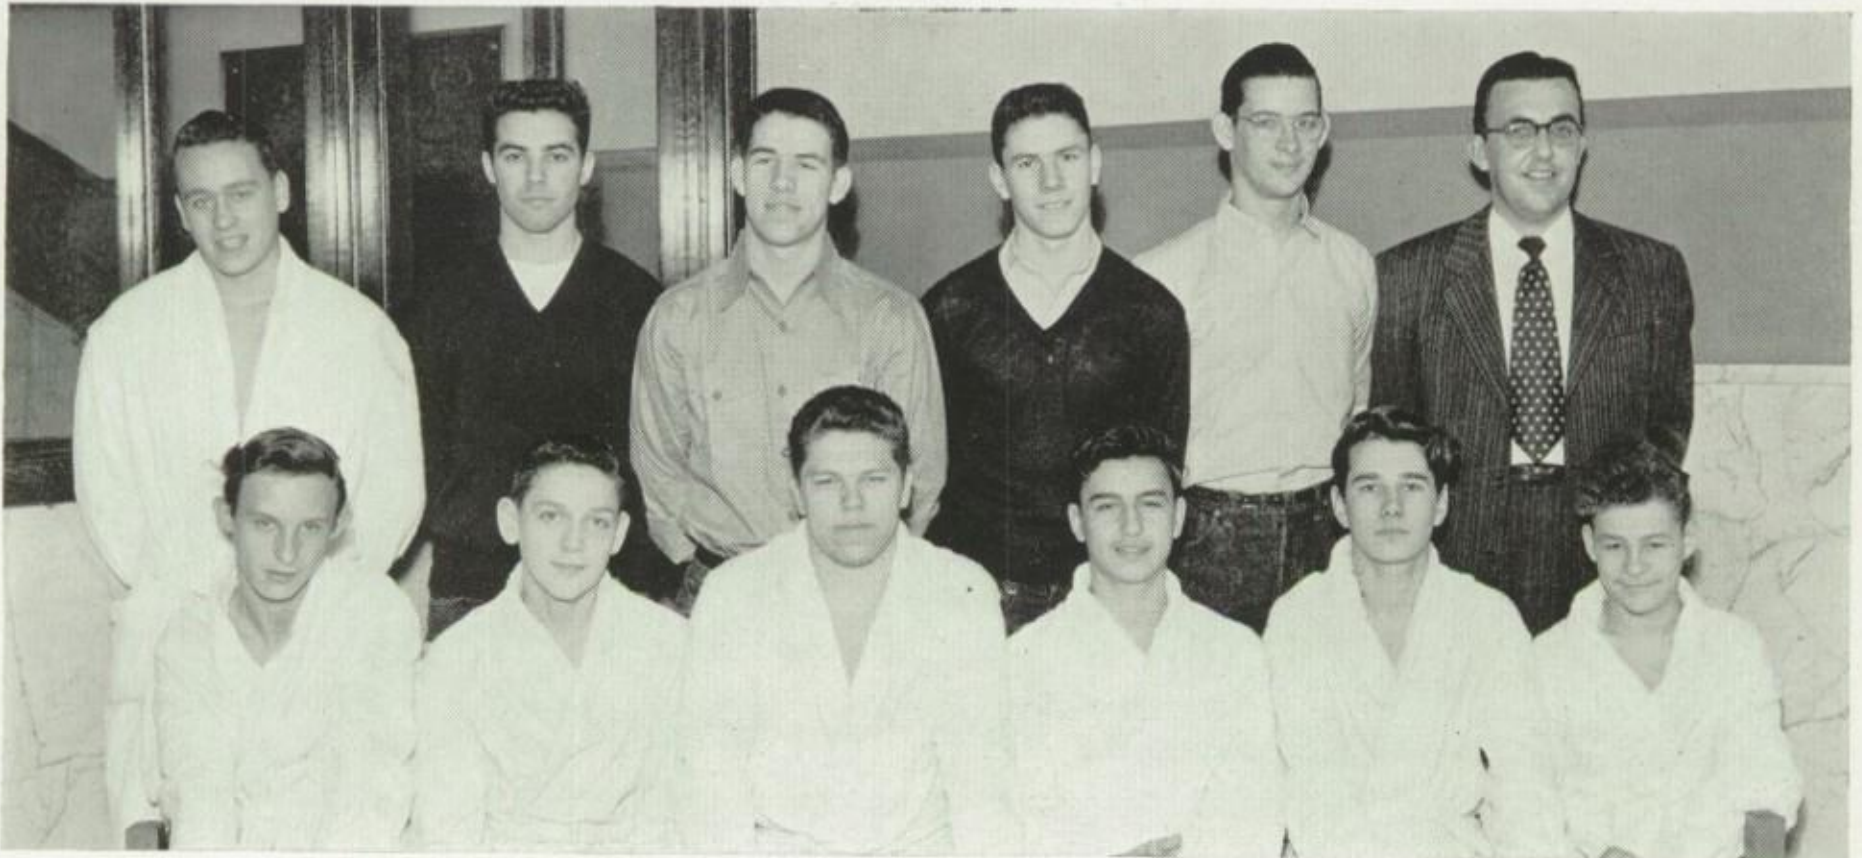

Prospects for next year's team are very good, since only four lettermen are leaving,—Sanders, first baseman for four years; Leigh, pitcher for four years; Gansner and Lee, who play second base.

Advisories

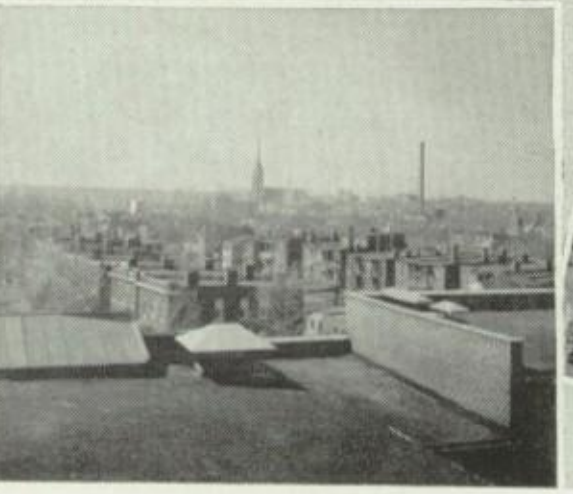

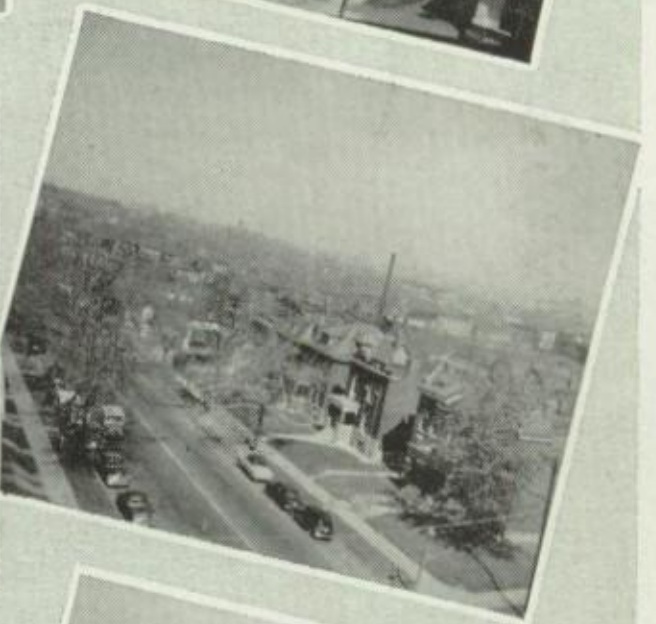

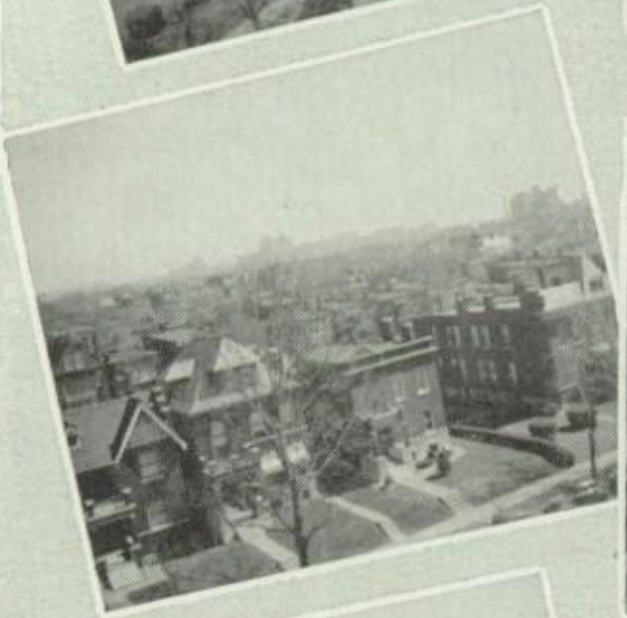

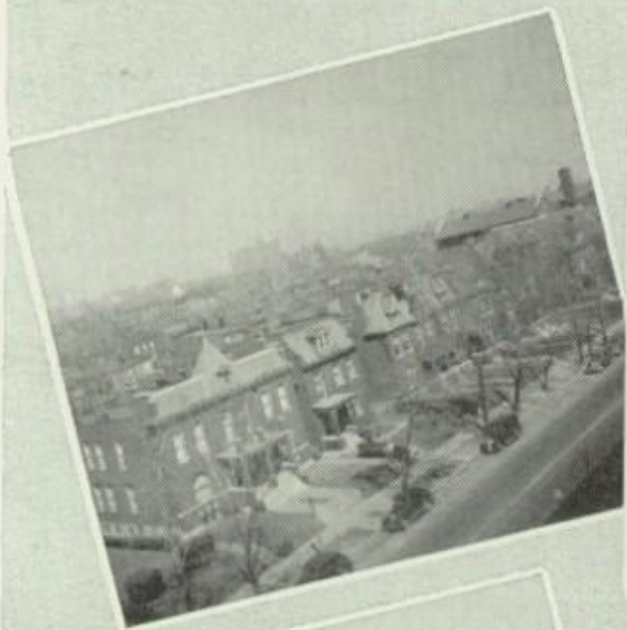

The advisory is a group in which one receives careful guidance in the selection of a course of study that will keep him happy and will build a foundation in education for success in any field. General routine matters such as daily attendance, announcements, and the sale of tickets are taken care of in each respective group.

Best of all, it is here that we make many permanent friends. The advisory group will always hold a large part of our school memories. Never can we forget the most important room in our school—our advisory!

—Jim Smith.

OFFICIAL SONG OF THE MCKINLEY HIGH SCHOOL

To you we sing, McKinley,
To you our loyal song we raise,
Paying tribute to McKinley
As we sing a song of praise,
We will hold aloft your standard,
To you our hearts will e'er be true
As we journey on life's path
Our tho'ts will ever turn to you.

CHORUS

McKinley, with colors black and gold,
McKinley, our hearts will ne'er grow cold;
For all that you have done for us,
Meant to us, will be to us,
McKinley, we're sons and daughters all;
McKinley, we'll come when e'er you call.
We'll ne'er forget dear friends we've met.
Three cheers for the black and the gold.

—Elsie Brix, Charles Humfeld.

"Creative planning is a prime need of education," said Philip J. Hickey, our superintendent. With so much to be learned by so many in so short a time we can be proud that our mothers have banded themselves together to extend a helping hand wherever they find an opportunity. They bring the home a little nearer to the school. They take pleasure in our pleasure, have joy in our success, and express sympathy in our misfortune.

We are reminded of Longfellow's verses:

"How beautiful is youth! How bright it gleams,
With its illusions, aspirations, dreams!
Book of Beginnings, Story without End,
Each maid a heroine, and each man a friend!"

Remember always

Miss Heideman's Eng. 6
class and the gum chewing. Also the play and

Miss Able. Best luck always and may you forever be happy.

P.S. Why did you buy a hard-covered mugg?
Full of money
your millionaire?
